Re: Participation in the 2010-2011 Budget Development Process and invitation to join the Budget Advisory Committee

Dear Fellow William Floyd School District Resident:

In a continual effort to remain open and transparent in the budget process, the William Floyd Board of Education invites residents to participate in the 2010-2011 school year budget development process. Your active involvement is more important now than ever.

For the fourth straight year, we are soliciting community input as we strive to develop a sensible budget that is considerate of the taxpayers and sticks to our core mission of educating our children and preparing them for the future.

You are encouraged to join the Budget Advisory Committee and actively participate in a series of Budget Workshops scheduled for Wednesday evenings beginning with an introductory meeting on February 24, 2010, from 7 pm to 8 pm. Subsequent meetings will be from 7 pm to 9 pm throughout March and April.

Your input is extremely important as the budget process involves decisions affecting all areas of District operations with a shrinking amount of resources, most importantly the ongoing reduction of State Aid. All Budget Workshops of the Board of Education are public sessions and open to the entire community. Please check the District calendar and District website, www.wfsd.k12.ny.us, for dates and details.

Please contact the District's Business Office at 874-1102 or by e-mail at budget@wfsd.k12.ny.us before February 10th to let us know if you would like to join the Budget Advisory Committee. You can also sign up on the District website by clicking the 2010-2011 Budget Information link.

We look forward to seeing you there!

Sincerely,

Board of Education
